FBI NATIONAL ACADEMY GRADUATES ONE OF GREENSBORO'S FINEST

GREENSBORO, NC (March 30, 2005) – Greensboro Police Captain Dwight Crotts, Division Commander of the Professional Standards Division, joins the ranks of a select group of law enforcement officials around the nation with his graduation from the 220th session of the FBI National Academy Program. FBI Director Robert S. Mueller, III, was the principal speaker at the ceremony.

The 220th Session of the National Academy consisted of men and women from 49 states, the District of Columbia, 28 international countries, three military organizations, and five Federal civilian organizations.

Internationally known for its academic excellence, the National Academy Program, held at the FBI Academy in Quantico, VA., offers 10 weeks of advanced investigative, management, and fitness training for selected officers having proven records as professionals within their agencies.

Captain Crotts joins Assistant Chief Tim Bellamy, Assistant Chief Craig Hartley, Captain Matt Lojko and Captain Rick Ball as active Greensboro Police Department graduates of this prestigious program
